By signing to the right of the violation, the athlete officially acknowledges that he has violated this rule and that he understands the below consequences of failing to comply with team and university policies/rules.

Failure to comply with team rules is a serious violation of your athletic grant-in-aid contract. If you continue to disregard team, University, NCAA, and/or conference policies Ohio State will be forced to take additional disciplinary action, which may ultimately affect your athletic grant-in-aid and/or your standing on the team. Student-Athletes at The Ohio State University are held to a higher standard and higher discipline.
